Modoc National Forest Fire Activity (New)

Per the U.S. Forest Service, Modoc National Forest, after thunderstorms passed through the area yesterday, crews responded to and confirmed a total of 14 lightning-caused fires across the Modoc National Forest. The fires started on the Devil's Garden, Doublehead and Warner Mountain ranger districts and ranged in size from less than one acre to 15 acres. The Mud Fire is located about 15 miles west of Canby and is the largest at 15 acres. Multiple resources are assigned to this incident. Additional hotshots, dozers, engines and water tenders have been ordered to assist with the various fires across the forest. Several of the fires have been contained already. Rain accompanied some of the storms yesterday while other areas remained dry. This precipitation made it difficult to access a few of the reported fires; crews have been dispatched to these incidents today.

- SOC / Inland REOC remains activated in support of 2014 Drought

WEATHER

WEATHER SYNOPSIS BY REGION:

NORTHERN CALIFORNIA:

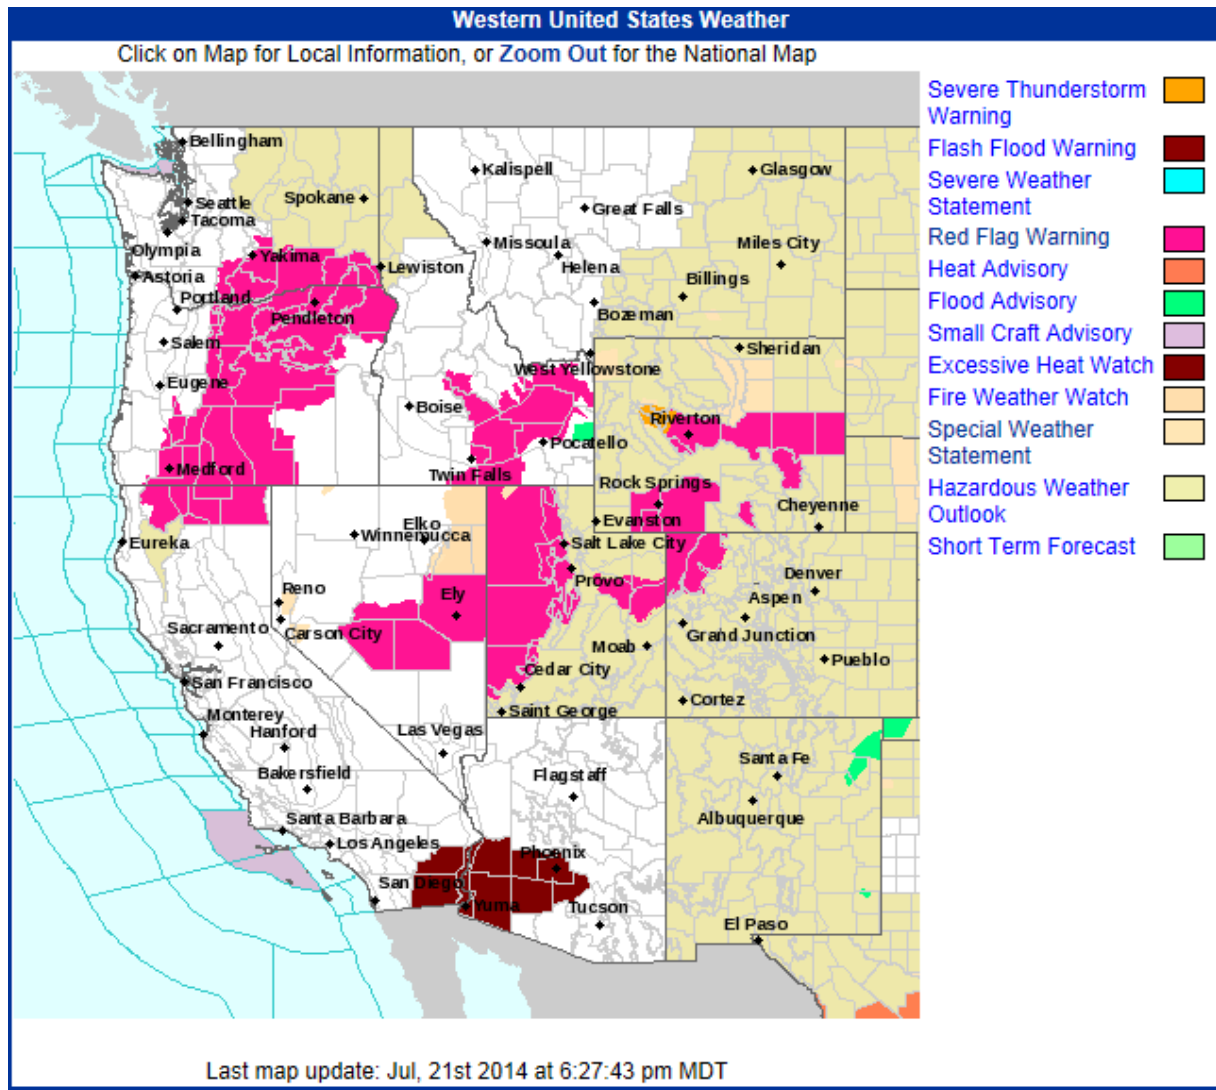

Moist unstable conditions over Northern California will continue the shower and wet thunderstorm chances through Tuesday. Activity will focus on the northern half of Northern California area on Tuesday, while southern areas begin to clear. A direct hit from a thunderstorm can yield 0.50-1.00 inches of rainfall. Low pressure will still be over the Pacific Northwest on Wednesday; however, Northern California conditions will be sunny, dry and breezy. Southwest-west winds gusting to 25-30 mph east of the Cascade-Sierra Crest Wednesday may cause holdover ignitions from recent lightning to rapidly grow and spread. Warmer and drier conditions are expected on Thursday, but with lighter winds. High pressure will build over the region beginning late in the week and into next weekend and push temperatures up to 7-12 degrees above normal with low humidity and poor overnight relative humidity recovery in many inland areas. Light to locally moderate north-northeast surface winds may enhance these conditions from the lower western Sierra slopes to the coastal mountains from Thursday through Saturday.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA:

High pressure over New Mexico will strengthen and expand westward bringing a gradual warming and drying trend to the region through Thursday. Maximum temperatures will be in the 70s to low 80s across the mountains and mid 80s to mid 90s in the valleys today. Minimum humidity will be mainly between 20% and 40% today. By Thursday, most valley locations will exceed 100 degrees and minimum humidity away from the coastal areas will be mainly in the single digits and teens. High pressure will set up near the Four Corners Area by Friday bringing a chance of isolated afternoon showers and thunderstorms to the mountains and deserts of Southern California east of the Cajon Pass through this weekend. Temperatures will remain hot Friday through this weekend, but humidity will slowly increase as moisture comes in from the southeast. Westerly afternoon winds of 8 to 15 mph will occur each day through this weekend.

CAL OES ACTIVATIONS

Cal EOC Incident – 2014 Drought

- The SOC is activated at Level 2 in support of the Drought State of Emergency from 0800-1700 hours daily.
- The Inland REOC is activated at Level 2 from 0800-1700 Monday through Friday or as needed.
- The Southern REOC is activated at Level 1.
- The Santa Barbara County OA EOC is activated at Level 2 to be handled by the duty officer for the purpose of monitoring activities and gaining situational awareness. The operational period is Monday – Friday, 0800-1700 hours.

Situational Summary

On January 17, 2014 Governor Edmund G. Brown proclaimed a State of Emergency and directed state officials to take all necessary actions to prepare for drought conditions. The State Operation Center (SOC) is activated to implement objectives in support of the Governor's priorities. The lack of winter rain and snowfall has resulted in extremely dry conditions in many parts of the State. Reservoir levels are down significantly from where they should be on average for this time of year. If conditions continue severe impacts to municipal water supplies, agriculture (plants and livestock) and firefighting capabilities are likely in store for the State over the next few months. Negative economic impacts will also result.

The drought could result in severe impacts to the municipal water supplies, wells, agriculture (plants and livestock) and firefighting capabilities for several months. The SOC continues to be activated to monitor the situation statewide, and support regional and local operational areas.

- On 7/15/14 the State Water Board passed new regulation to reduce out door urban water use. The regulation makes an exception for health and safety circumstances. Local agencies can ask courts to fine water users up to $500.00 a day and the SWRCB can fine water agencies up to $10,000.00 per day. SWRCB will update FAQ's this week.

- Reservoir Levels (% capacity): Reservoir Levels as of July 21 remain low, including: Don Pedro 47%; Exchequer 23%; Folsom Lake 43%; Lake Oroville 38%; Millerton Lake 56%; New Melones 28%; Pine Flat 23%; San Luis 26%; Lake Shasta 37%; and Trinity Lake 39%. An update of water levels at other smaller reservoirs is also available.

Situational Summary

- On July 15, 2014, CDFA in partnership with U.C. Davis Center for Watershed Sciences released a study titled Economic Analysis of the 2014 Drought for California Agriculture. The study indicates the drought in California is the third most severe on record and is responsible for the greatest water loss ever seen for the state's agriculture, and river water for Central Valley farms has been reduced by roughly one-third, according. Direct costs to agriculture total about $1.5 billion (which include revenue losses of $1 billion and $0.5 billion in additional pumping costs). This net revenue loss is about 3% of the state's total agricultural value

- The 2014 Governor Drought Task Force continues to meet regularly to take actions that conserve water and coordinate state response to the drought.
- Cal OES continues to gather drought-related costs from state agencies and local governments.
